

THE DAY

I still remember the day
The first day of college
The day that we long for
And the moment we wait for.

I still remember the day
The day we entered our college campus
The spirit of joy arose in our heart
Because this is the place that awaits us.

I still remember the day
The day we entered the classroom
Of how the desks and benches placed beautifully
And how prideful are the faces of the students.

I still remember the day
The day when our teachers came into the room
With a bright smile on their faces
And with a will to teach us.

I still remember the day
The day when I thought that
How long we've come with flying colours
To a place that we always dream for.
